Nothnagle Realtors Ranked 33rd Most Productive Firm in Nation

Rochester, NY -- Nothnagle Realtors proudly announces that the company has been ranked the 33rd most productive company in the country by REALTOR® Magazine.

REALTOR® Magazine's Top 100 report, released this summer, ranks the largest residential real estate firms in the nation based on varying sales criteria. Nothnagle is ranked 33rd most productive company based on transaction sides for 2008.

Last year, Nothnagle ranked 36th on the survey. The move up for Nothnagle was based solely on growth within the Greater Rochester market. While 2008 was a difficult year for real estate, Nothnagle's market participation hit an all-time high. In the 61-year history of the company, the greatest growth spurts have occurred in challenging markets.

The survey also ranks average transactions per agent. With an average of 14, Nothnagle agents are among the most productive agents in the country with only nine other companies in the country having a higher average.

"Nothnagle is unique among many of the survey participants in that our business is based in the Greater Rochester market, versus brokers who are spread among multiple cities or are doing business in markets with much higher median sales prices. It is a testament to our agents, combined with Nothnagle's comprehensive advertising programs, that our company could achieve this level of success at the national level," stated Armand D'Alfonso, President and CEO.
